

From the Spirit of Wanda...

My name is Wanda. I overdosed on drugs at the age of 26. I see much of my own life through your respective Spirits... This is my message to you...

Destiny.

I was sleeping last night in my usual drugged way
when I realised I has having an incredible dream (you should have seen it!) a flash of bright light
and an angel appeared, all dazzling in white.

I said ‘Hey Angel, are you really what you seem?’
And she looked at me and said “this sure ain’t no dream!
I want you to come... on a journey with me
and we’ll take a look... at your destiny.”

Before I could think of something to say she raised up her arms – and I felt the room sway...
I felt myself floating, then we were out in the night
should I have been worried? – Nah, she was alright.

Then, suddenly we were over the old room that we use and I saw all you guys – and I was there too!

and the weird thing was, though it took but a moment
I saw, like a video, of my life that unfolded...

Then it moved further on to when I was much older
the drugs had me hooked,
I looked ill and unkempt,
I was cold, much much colder,
for by then I was desperate, a thief I'd become
I had to have drugs, I could murder have done.

“Hey!” I said to this Angel all dazzling and white,
“this is so bad – you give me a fright!”
She turned around to face me
and she gave me these words, so soft... but real clear...

“This life is your own, to live as you choose,
and the choices you make, guide the directions you use
you've been given the gift of your future to see....
is what you see what you want?.... Such futility!
This warning – I hope you will heed this advice
consider your choices and sort out your life
for you can change your destiny
it's easy to do

Make positive choices!!!
The choice is UP TO YOU
